Sleep under the midnight sun or the polar night

Few places offer fresh air like Svalbard and there are few places you will sleep as well as at the Radisson Blu Polar Hotel Spitsbergen.

Radisson Blu Polar Hotel Spitsbergen offers 95 guest rooms, many of which boast breathtaking views of the surrounding mountains. Well-appointed standard and superior rooms are available, as well as apartments and our luxurious suite. The hotel has two rooms specifically furnished for guests with allergies. The apartments are in a separate building close to the main building.

All rooms are non-smoking and have separate bathrooms, TV, radio, telephone and minibar.

Powerful impressions, relaxed tempo

After a day in the wilderness recharge with a hearty meal.

Our menus offer a variety and we are particularly proud to serve arctic specialties such as seal, whale, reindeer and Svalbard grouse – all provided by local hunters.

From your table at the hotel's restaurant Brasseri Nansen you can enjoy the panoramic view towards the majestic mountain Hiorthfjellet accompanied by an excellent Arctic menu and an extensive selection of wines. Brasseri Nansen is an unpretentious restaurant, and we like to offer a playful menu based on local produce.

Brasseri Nansen 2. Etage is our most exclusive chambre séparée. Located on the mezzanine floor above the hotel's entrance, 2. etage offers stunning views over Longyearbyen towards the Longyear Glacier. The head chef and maître d'hotel arrange sensational menus with perfectly matched wines, and ensure an indulgent evening with exceptional service.

The town most popular meeting place, Barentz Pub & Spiseri is located at the Radisson Blu Polar Hotel Spitsbergen. The pub is a cosy place where you make new acquaintances over a wide selection of international beers and often features live music on the weekends. In addition to the options on the menu the pub also serves a daily special – home cooking made with love for visitors and locals alike.

Write home about something other than the weather

High in the Arctic, Spitsbergen is a place of varied nature and rich animal life.

From January through May it is possible to enjoy winter activities such as dog sledding and snowmobile touring, either for the day or as a part of an overnight trip. If you are lucky you may even catch a glimpse of the King of the Arctic – the Polar Bear. Or why not try something else unique to Spitsbergen? – a tour of the area's ice caves is guaranteed to be an unforgettable experience.

From April 19th the midnight sun shines in Longyearbyen, and does not set until August 23rd. Migratory birds return with the sun to the archipelago, the air teems with life and the mountainsides are covered with nests. In the summer you can experience the remote and unspoiled nature by boat as you cruise along the coast of Spitsbergen or join us on a glacier safari in the nearby area. Discover specimens of prehistoric reptiles on our fossil hunting safaris or enjoy the panoramic view from a nearby mountain peak on one of our hiking trips. We offer a wide range of excursions all year around that can be booked with the hotel reception.

You can also visit Longyearbyen's museums and galleries.

Magical. Quiet. In the midst of an adventure

You would think it would be unbearably cold on an island situated between the Norwegian mainland and the North Pole, but it is not. Svalbard has, thanks to the Gulf Stream, a surprisingly mild climate that varies greatly between summer and winter.

The winter is dark and magical, lit by the aurora borealis, while the summer is cool and full of pastel colours.

Longyearbyen is the "capital" of Spitsbergen. This small and colourful community of around 2000 citizens has grown from a small mining society to a thriving community which offers guests a wide variety of services, be they cultural, outdoor or otherwise. Longyearbyen also has a wide range of shops. Did you know that Longyearbyen is a tax free area? This means that all goods and services are without tax.

By plane

Did you know that Longyearbyen is the northernmost place on earth with regular air traffic connections?

There are flights to Longyearbyen all year round. From mid February there are flights 6 days a week and from May until September there are flights 7 days a week.
